Flag-Football Championship Night

by Camille Brown, Chase Kepley and Jessica Taylor

After a long season of touchdowns, sacks, upsets and pandemonium, the flag football season have come down to one more night of competition. The flag-football championships were held on November 10th with teams competing in the Women, Men A, Men B and Co-Rec divisions. This particular evening turned out to be the coldest night of the season with the low being 32 degrees.

Regardless of the weather, fans came out strong to support their teams. The first game of the night was the Men's B game at 7pm, Sick Wit It vs. Playboyz. The Playboyz showed they deserved a shot in the competitive bracket, sweeping through the playoffs by winning 19-6. Run n Gun and Charlotte's Finest played next at 8pm in the Co-Rec game. Coming out fully energized, Run n Gun took the lead at the beginning of the game. Further along in the first half, Anthony Shelton made an incredible play that boosted Charlotte's Finest energy to compete with Run n Gun. This play tied the game up. During the 2nd half of the championship game, Charlotte's Finest conquered the scoreboard during the rest of the game. The final score was 35-9. In the women's competitive game, the Turtles were ready to take on Alpha Delta Pi from the start. In what was a defensive battle, the Turtles shut out ADPI 18-0. Pure Playaz vs. Charlotte Goodfellas was the night's final game and main attraction. Both teams had to play top ranked competition to make it this far. With a few underrated athletes on their team the Goodfellas played an incredible first half staying tight with one of the best teams on the east coast, as they milked the clock driving down the field. Andrew Immel managed to find his way into the end zone for the Goodfellas first and only touchdown. The Pure Players scored quickly with a strike from Michael Newton to Jason Lindsay. In the 2nd half the Pure Players were more like Pure Play Makers as they rushed the QB with Micheaux Simmons and Christopher Hergenreter, two of the quickest rushers that you will ever see. This created problems for the Goodfellas leading to a Nick Wilson interception. Then the offensive show began with big plays by Anthony Shelton, Rick Wiley, and Brent Robinson. Including a catch by Wiley, followed by an over the head lateral to Robinson, who came out of nowhere to snatch the ball and run into the end zone. Another season in the books, and teams already can't wait till next year.

Female Official Shows She Can Ref With The Boys

By Beth Horton

As this year's flag football season comes to an end one outstanding female official deserves recognition. Shea Qualls is a sophomore student here at UNC Charlotte. She is an only child originally from Raleigh North Carolina where she participated in her high school varsity basketball team. Hopefully in the future Shea plans to graduate with a Health Fitness Degree. On the weekends she enjoys watching women's college basketball and is a huge UNC Charlotte fan. Her favorite color is orange and she really enjoys summertime. As a first year flag football official and currently volleyball Shea has developed mechanics and charisma, which will take her far in her intramural career. One thing she enjoys about intramurals is that it allows her to meet new people and form long lasting friendships. Shea deserves a standing applause for her hard work and dedication as an official.

NEW INTRAMURAL EVENT ADDED TO CALENDAR!

The Collegiate Poker Tour is coming to UNC Charlotte! After several months of negotiation, CPT and the Intramural Department have finalized the details. About Our Organization...

The Intramural Sports program is designed to encourage all UNC Charlotte students, faculty, and staff to participate in wholesome organized intramural sports activities. These programs will provide the use of facilities for such activities, organize and promote competition between groups and individuals, enhance physical fitness through competitive activities, and foster a spirit of fair play and sportsmanship among participants and spectators. In order to meet its goals, the Intramural Sports program offers events in team sports, dual and individual sports, and special events. In doing so, it also provides leadership opportunities for individuals desiring to be volunteers or auxiliary part-time staff for positions such as officials, scorekeepers and supervisors.
